"Straightening" Process Undertaken by Americans Becomes Flank Enveloping Movement to Force Huns Back Further From River Marne.

Enemy Offers Stubborn Resistance but Allies Continue to Make Progress.

(By War Editor of The Associated Press)

American and French troops have begun a turning movement that if successful will compel a German retirement over a wide sector east of Fere-en-Tardenois, at the center of the Soissons-Rheims salient.

They have attacked over a front of over three miles on each side of the village of Nesles, the tip of the allied wedge north of the Ourcq. The greatest advance was toward the east, where the Americans are approaching Chamey.

Although the announced purpose of the attack was the straightening out of the line between Seringes and Clerges, this is really secondary to the outflanking of the Germans to the southward.

The enemy is holding very strong positions at Roncheres, and St. Geme, where his line is still less than five miles from the Marne, and a continued advance between Nesles and Clerges would force him to fall back to escape being cut off from the rear.

This seems to be the only sector where the allies are attacking with infantry. Reports from the front tell of heavy artillery fire between Soissons and Rheims.

ALLIED FORCES MAKE HEADWAY

(Associated Press Cable)
With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne front, 8:00 a. m., August 1.—Franco-American forces on the main battle front continued yesterday the process of straightening out the line. They scored advances in this effort, the Americans pushing beyond Sergey to within two kilometers of Chamey.

The allied forces effected their progress against stubborn German resistance. Chamey, the town the Americans now are approaching, marks the spot where Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt fell to his death recently.

GERMANS PREPARE FOR WITHDRAWAL

(By Associated Press Cable)

With the American Army in the Marne-Aisne front, (Noon), August 1.—The Germans used less artillery late yesterday against the attacking forces on this front, depending more upon their machine gunners for defending their lines.

This fact coupled with statements from prisoners and deserters tend to strengthen the belief that they are planning a withdrawal to new positions along the River Vesle.

A deserter who came into the lines last night declared that orders had been issued for a series of retrograde movements until Fismes, on the Vesle, had been reached.

Except for minor engagements there was only artillery fire along the line up to noon today and that was comparatively light.

CAVE-IN CLAIMS LEFT LEG OF ONE- ARMED LOCAL MAN

Just at the closing hour at the M. Hamm Company's Fertilizer Plant, Wednesday evening, Emery Talkington was caught in a cave-in from the huge mass of fertilizer piled high in the drying shed of the plant, with the result that his left leg was so mangled that amputation was necessary. He had lost his left arm at the elbow when a child, and the double handicap makes his recent misfortune a most serious one.

Talkington, with others, was employed in moving the fertilizer, when an unexpected cave-in came, with the result that he was nearly buried under the heavy fertilizer, which fell in lumps, pinning him beneath it, and necessitating some hard work on the part of his companions to remove him from his precarious situation.

It was found that his left leg below the knee had been so shockingly mangled that amputation was deemed the only means of saving his life and this was done at the Fayette hospital.

In addition to the crushed foot and leg he sustained a bad scalp wound, but Thursday was resting easily considering the ordeal through which he had passed.

Mr. Talkington, who is a son of Mr. W. S. Talkington, now residing in Columbus, lost his left arm at the elbow when a small child, and with this serious handicap had succeeded in carrying on various occupations with surprising ability.

COMPLAINT MADE OF RACING AUTOS

Numerous complaints have been heard recently regarding the very dangerous practice indulged in by some auto drivers, of racing over the country roads at terrific speed, and either forcing other vehicles off the public highway or endangering the lives of persons on the highways, to say nothing of the lives of the drivers themselves.

In various parts of the county this practice apparently is on the increase and persons who are troubled by these reckless drivers are expected to take their numbers and notify the proper officials, insisting upon prosecution of the guilty drivers for reckless driving and excessive speed on the public highways.

TAPS SOUND FAREWELL TO ARMY COMRADE AND WELL KNOWN MAN

Plaintively the taps sounded farewell to a brave soldier and valued comrade Wednesday afternoon, when the Grand Army of the Republic closed, at the grave in the Washington cemetery, services of marked impressiveness and appreciation, honoring Elmer Welsheimer.

The services were held in Grace M. E. church, where gathered a large assemblage of relatives and friends as well as the G. A. R. and the I. O. O. F., which attended in a body.

Just prior to leaving for the church the Ladies' Circle of the G. A. R. held their tender memorial service at the home and placed the flag upon the breast of the sleeping soldier. This service was conducted by Mrs. Mary Millikan, president; Mrs. J. F. Dennis Vice President; Mrs. Bella L. Ustick, chaplain. Mrs. Arthur Burgett sang beautifully "The Home of the Soul."

A number accompanied the family from the home to the church, where Miss Light played the organ softly as the flower-heaped casket was borne down the aisle.

The services throughout were rich in homage to the patriot, the christian gentleman, the lodge brother, the staunch party standard bearer and the devoted husband and father. Rev. Arthur P. Cherrington conducted the religious service, reading the hymns. There were few dry eyes during the reading of the hymn: "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder." A call which the valiant soldier had now answered.

ones a correct summary of Mr. moir written by himself that offered wonderfully heartsome and eloquent tribute, as well as giving to the listeners a correct summary of Mr. Welsheimer's interesting life.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows then took charge, G. C. Kidner, Noble Grand, Will Craig, Chaplain, J. H. Hendryx, Vice Grand, had charge of the order's beautiful ritual service.

The G. A. R. ritual service at the grave was in charge of Post Commander I. N. Rowe, of the B. H. Millikan Post, and it was deeply affecting, the seared veterans surrounding the grave with saddened hearts and a sense of deep loss in the taking away of this comrade.

The pallbearers were mainly chosen from the G. A. R. Post. They were: I. N. Rowe, R. S. Quinn, George Davis, W. C. Snider, John Harper of Good Hope and J. F. Adams.

The flowers were magnificent and in great profusion.

Special designs were from M. E. Bible Class, Postoffice employees, Woman's Relief Corps, Friends of Veterans, I. O. O. F. Lodge, many personal friends, and every neighbor within the whole block of the Welsheimer home.

Relatives and friends from out of town were: Mr. James Robbins, Indianapolis, Mr. Chas. Robbins, Sabina, Mr. Wert Hyer, of Springfield, Mr. Jess Welsheimer Urbana, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Cherry, Hillsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Limes, Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. John Aber and daughters, Lyndon; J. NO LETTERS FROM FAYETTE SOLDIERS

Relatives and friends of Fayette county soldiers who are with the Rainbow Division in France have not received mail from the men for sometime, and the belief exists that the last consignment of mail forwarded by the soldiers went to the bottom of the sea on the steamer Justicia, which was torpedoed and sunk three or four weeks ago.

The fact that no one has received mail for sometime clearly indicates that some such mishap has occurred.

YOUTH ARRESTED HELD IN PRISON

The Spreader Comes First

NOTHING in America is more important than the success of the 1918 crop. Of all the means at the farmers' command for increasing the crop, a good manure spreader easily comes first. It requires no additional power or help, in fact it saves time and labor. It increases the yield from every acre in which it is properly used. This is the year, and this is the month to buy an begin to use a

Low Cloverleaf Manure Spreader

The Low Cloverleaf is a wide spreading, easy running, light draft, narrow box spreader, made in three handy sizes—small, medium and large. The wide spreading device catches the manure as it comes from the beater, breaks it up into still finer particles, and throws it out beyond the wheel tracks in a wide, even spread. This is the kind of fertilizing recommended by all the authorities.

The entire load is spread in 3 to 5 minutes. The machine runs easily and lasts a long time because the working parts are all securely fastened to a sturdy steel frame which keeps them all in place and in line.

The Low Cloverleaf spreader is backed by International Harvester reputation for quality machines. It does the work as it should be done. This year of all years you should have a good manure spreader and you will profit most by using a Low Cloverleaf. Immediate delivery. Place your order now.

The Possibilities

Now, after the present titanic struggle, which we called the second battle of the Marne, has raged with ever increasing fury for nearly two weeks, since the allied forces under General Foch assumed the offensive, expert observers are almost unanimous in the opinion that it is not the intention of either the allies or the Germans to make it a decisive struggle.

All agree, however, that it is, perhaps, the most important, in results, of any struggle of the war save possibly the memorable Marne battle of 1914, when the first German tide of invasion reached its height at the Marne and began to ebb just as it has this year.

The fact that the out-generated Crown Prince succeeded, after withdrawing tremendous reinforcements from other fronts, in extricating his army and in preventing the pincer points from closing in the rear of the wedge which he had driven in the allied lines, does not seem to check the fury of the struggle or to release any vast number of troops engaged. In fact, the battle grows in intensity and in number of men engaged each day.

The result already has been to completely upset the plans of the German general staff and to shatter their hope of final success this year. Perhaps the offensive of the allies, which may have been the result of an opening created unexpectedly will grow into much more than even the experts now predict.

We Have a Start

With the opening, in Washington today of an auto truck body manufactory, industrial activity, too long permitted to remain dormant in this locality, gives promise of a revival.

True, the new concern starts in a modest way and that's well enough too. Expansion can come easily enough with business success. It is far better to start small and grow big than to start big and shrink up.

The men back of Washington's "infant industry" express the greatest confidence in the future of the business and the problem of securing labor has no terrors at all for them. They very sensibly argue that labor will come to Washington for the same, or less wage inducement as is offered elsewhere because of the advantages in living, socially and financially. Men can live and raise a family much cheaper and better in an agricultural community like this than they can in congested city districts—then, too, there is a large source of labor supply to be obtained from the scores of Washington people who have moved away to get work and high wages who would gladly return to the old home town among life-long friends at much less wage than they receive among strangers.

That's the argument the promoters of the new industry use in disposing of the fears of the pessimist on the labor problem. It seems sound too.

There are other industries that could be secured for this city with just a little effort of the substantial kind. This is a time of hard facts and tinsel and talk does not attract.

Now we have a start—let's go.

Beware of Rumors

These are times when people—everyone—should be careful in making statements. Warnings to that effect have issued time and time again but, judging from some of the wild talk afloat, it seems necessary to again warn the people to avoid falling into the exceedingly grave error of repeating sensational rumors and especially of repeating rumor—unfounded rumor too, most of it—as a fact.

Many patriotic but sensation-loving people, who love to dwell upon and tell marvelous stories, are unconsciously, by indulging their weakness in that particular, acting as the most effective distributors of German propaganda.

We must not, for a single instant, lose sight of the fact that a great German peace drive is on, in fact that it has always been and always will be on until the war is won. Germany wants a German peace and far more effective than her army in the field is the wild talk of German agents and irresponsible, but well meaning folks who, acting in concert, spread sensational rumors.

The Huns are cunning, as all devilish people are, and they clothe their propaganda in such a way as to make it unrecognizable to the folks who are not careful in their assertions.

The only safe way is to absolutely refrain from repeating and spreading sensational rumors about anything and above all to avoid making a positive assertion about something we know nothing whatever about.

Poetry For Today

A MOTHER SPEAKS
I give you my boy—I may do no less
Flesh of my flesh I give.
I give you my boy with his fair
young life,
I bid him go forth to the bloody strife,
My heart—it is torn with a two-edged knife—
Life is so sweet to live.

I give you my boy—oh, thou gracious
Christ
Pardon these burning tears.
I give you my boy in his princely power,
My lad—come to his man-
hood's flower.
With love—with ideals of a golden hour
Greeting the dawn of years.

I give you my boy—will you give him back
Clean as the lad I know,
Or will he return—if this thing
should be,
Coarse-fashioned and brutal—estranged from me,
Forgotten the dreams and the best
set free—
He whom I gave to you?

I give you my boy—should the reaper call
Truce on an alien sod,
My strength it will come for the great dark way,
But where is the strength that will ever stay
That bitterest grief when men would slay
The soul that has walked with God?

SPECIAL BOARD WILL RUN WIRES

Washington, Aug. 1. — Control of telephone and telegraph lines was taken over last midnight by the post-office department and their operation placed under the general supervision of a special committee, created for the purpose by Postmaster General Burleson.

Mr. Burleson announced that until further notice the companies will continue operation in the ordinary course through the regular channels and that all officers and employees will continue in the performance of their present duties on the same terms of employment. The plan is, however, to co-ordinate the facilities of the various companies to the best interest of the public and the stockholders.

Investigations into wire conditions being conducted by the special committee, composed of First Assistant Postmaster General Koonz, David J. Lewis, former member of the tariff commission, and William H. Lamar, solicitor of the postoffice department, will be continued, so that all possible information can be secured before any changes are undertaken.

IRISH BIRTH RATE

(Associated Press Correspondence)
Dublin, July 15.—The Irish Registrar General's returns for the first quarter of this year shows a drop in the Irish birth rate of 3.6 below the average for the previous ten years. The marriage rate is practically stationary. The death rate is 3.3 below the average.

The general prosperity of Ireland is reflected by the fact that the returns of Irish pauperism show a decrease of 3,122 in the average number of workhouse inmates.

ITALY IS COUNTRY OF UNLOCKED DOORS

(Associated Press Correspondence)

Headquarters Italian Army, July 25.

—"Italy ought to be called the country of unlocked doors," said F. C. Thwaites, of Milwaukee, who is in charge of the American Red Cross work on a large section of this front.

"I think honesty is the chief trait of the Italians," he said. "The best proof of this general statement is that I never lock my hotel door anywhere in Italy, nor do any other Americans after they have been here a few weeks. We go away from our hotels, perhaps for days at a time, leaving our doors unlocked and all our personal belongings at the mercy of the first comer, and yet we never dream of losing anything, either through hotel servants or transients.

"Out on the front you can leave your automobile standing anywhere you like, with your overcoats or any other belongings, and be sure that nothing will be disturbed. At that there may be plenty of poor fellows about who would most gratefully accept any small present."

TOBACCO MEN GET TOP PRICES

(Associated Press Correspondence)

San Juan, Porto Rico, July 25.—Tobacco planters who have held their crops to the present time in all probability will get as much for it as the high prices realized last year when prices made a new high record for Porto Rico.

Tobacco buyers during the past ten days have suddenly realized that the crop which originally they expected would be the largest in the history of the island had suddenly shrunk and that instead of being 35,000,000 or 40,000,000 pounds it is not now estimated to exceed 25,000,000 pounds.

Prices have been advancing so that a good many buyers now figure that purchases made during the past week have been on basis which will make the price as high if not higher than last year's crop, which averaged in many instances more than 40 cents a pound.

ORDER YOUR FERTILIZERS NOW

The Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, has just issued the following announcement:

"Farmers are urged by the United States Department of Agriculture to place orders at once for fertilizer needed for fall wheat. It is very important, according to W. W. Mein, Assistant of the Secretary of Agriculture in charge of the licensing of fertilizer concerns under the Food Control Act, that dealers and manufacturers know farmers' needs as soon as possible, so that orders can be combined and car space used to the best advantage. Transportation difficulties require that freight cars be loaded to their rated capacity. Delay in ordering, it is said, may result in a repetition of last spring's experience when many farmers failed to receive their mixed fertilizer and acid phosphate until after planting time."

Orders can be filled in the "ACORN" or other leading brands of Williams & Clark's Fertilizers and delivered at your nearest station if you

"REMAKING OF A NATION" ATTRACTS LARGE AUDIENCES

"The Remaking of a Nation" famous Camp Sherman moving picture exhibited at the Wonderland Theater Wednesday afternoon and night, and which will continue to be exhibited at the Wonderland tonight, Friday afternoon and Friday night, attracted large crowds who were profoundly interested in the numberless interesting scenes depicting camp life in all of its many phases.

The life of the soldier from the moment he stepped into the camp, the rawest of raw recruits, until he was ready to entrain for the front in France, was shown just as it really is unembellished, and for the information of all who have friends or relatives in the camp and in the war.

The matinee and evening exhibitions were largely attended, and Lieut. McMahon, of Camp Sherman, describes each scene as it is shown, so that there may be no question in the minds of the onlookers as to the whys and wherefores of each particular phase of camp life.

The picture shows the 83rd Division, now in France, and among the thousands upon thousands of soldiers many are easily recognized.

The picture is being exhibited under the auspices of The Red Cross, with half of the proceeds going to the 83rd Division, and half to the Red Cross, Mr. Chas. Johnson, manager of the Wonderland, donating the use of the theater during the time the great picture is being exhibited here.

Every man, woman and child should see the great picture while the opportunity presents itself, and learn first hand how the boys live in the camps; how they drill, and how they are prepared to meet the German horde when they reach the forefront in the great battles for civilization.

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS CONCERT

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG AT COLONIAL THEATER

Clara Kimball Young and her own company will appear at the Colonial Theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in a picturization of "The House of Glass," adapted by Charles E. Whitaker, from the dramatic sensation of the same name by Max Marcin, directed by Emile Chautard, and distributed by Select Pictures Corporation.

As Margaret Case, Miss Young portrays brilliantly the role of an innocent girl whom circumstantial evidence convicts of complicity in a theft of jewelry; after eighteen months in prison she is paroled and disappears from New York. In the West she meets and marries a railroad man named Harvey Lake; his appointment as manager of a big Eastern road brings them to New York, where she is recognized by a detective. She tells her husband the whole story, and when the detective brings indisputable evidence of her former identity and refuses to be silenced, the situation looks very black.

How the clouds are lifted and Margaret's continuously haunting fears removed furnish a dramatic story in which Miss Young adds to her full crown of laurels as a leading emotional screen star.

DASCHUND DRIVEN FROM CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, O., August 1.—Exit the Boche daschund from the society of Cincinnati dogdom.

No longer will the lengthy canines which tradition has associated with link sausages find company with decent fidoes. A U. S. Marine Corps poster was responsible for the German doggie's social demise here.

The poster depicts an American bulldog chasing a German daschund with the words, "Teufel Hunden (Devil Dog), German nickname for U. S. Marines."

Since the appearance of the Marine poster, the local daschunds, of which there are a great number, have led a miserable existence, as small boys have "sicked" bulldogs, terriers, hounds and every other breed of canine on the poor "Fritziess," until at last they have been practically driven off the streets of Cincinnati.

THE DARING WORK OF YANKEE AIRMEN

(Associated Press Correspondence)

An American Aviation Base, Somewhere in England, July 1.—The feat of two American aviators in rescuing the crew of a British seaplane which had been forced to land on the surface of the North Sea after an encounter with a group of German airplanes, received mention this week in a British communique. The official statement, however, said only:

"In one case a stray bullet shot away a control, and the British machine was forced to alight. The crew were subsequently rescued by another British seaplane, which had been sent to search for them."

The rescuing machine was manned by Ensigns Benjamin Lee and J. J. Schieffelin, of the American Naval Aviation Service. Ensign Lee gave The Associated Press the following account of the flight.

"Our commanding officer and two men left the station at 3:30 in the morning on a flight toward the Dutch coast. Shortly after sunrise they saw on the horizon, five spots which rapidly assumed the outlines of German seaplanes.

"Five to one is hardly a fight, so the commanding officer, after a first diving charge through the enemy's formation, shoved down the nose of his plan and headed homeward. His two men fled sharply from the after guns, forcing the German scouts to keep their distance. They were getting away all right even leading the enemy into dangerous territory, when suddenly a chance shot from one of the Germans took away a control and the flying-boat crashed nose down. The three men fought clear of the wreckage and got hold of a floating spar, while the Germans, realizing that they were in dangerous country, scooted away homeward.

"It was four hours later, when the patrol was long overdue, that we were sent out to search for them. We searched the horizon as we speeded along eastward, covering, at the visibility, a band about twenty miles wide. Finally one of us picked up a black speck, which soon grew into a piece of wreckage with three men on it.

"Dropping our bombs at a safe distance, we throttled down our motors and landed near the crashed seaplane. It was a delicate operation, but we managed to taxi over to the wreckage and pick off the four men, meanwhile sending back the good news by wireless.

"The only comment the commanding officer had to make on his experience was: 'What's a ducking? Just a bit of experience!'"

GOVERNMENT WILL RECRUIT LABOR OF THE NATION

(American Press)
New York, Aug. 1.—The federal government today took over the recruiting of labor in every state of the Union for furtherance of the war.

Labor requirements for war industries have been apportioned to the various states on a basis of population, and as men are needed they will move forward to meet the demand, wherever this may be. The aim is to eliminate the wasteful turnover of labor, stabilize wages, increase the production of essentials and give efficient support to the man in the trenches, who needs from six to 10 men to work for him in this country every day he is in France.

Announcement of this plan was made at a luncheon given in New York to Secretary of Labor Wilson by Grosvenor B. Clarkson, secretary of the council of national defense, to a gathering of newspaper publishers.

Independent recruiting of common labor by plants employing over 100 men will be diverted, effective today, to the United States employment service, and there will be restrictions upon private advertising for labor. At the same time the project will be conducted with the least possible injury to labor as a whole.

Under the methods adopted the country has been divided into 13 federal districts, each district in charge of a superintendent of the federal employment service. The states within each district are in turn in charge of a state director, who has full control of the service within his state. In each community there has been formed a local community labor board, which has jurisdiction over recruiting and distributing labor in its locality. These boards, if necessary, ask employers of nonwar workers to give up labor to meet the needed requirements for war purposes.

FOOD CRISIS ON THRUOUT AUSTRIA

(American Press)
Amsterdam Aug. 1.—The food crisis in Austria is almost overcome and presumably will never recur, declared Food Minister Paul. He says that harvest prospects are promising and that the situation, especially as to fodder, is better than the previous year. Cattle have sufficient fodder so that the prospects of an autumn supply of milk and meat are better than hitherto. A note of warning, however, is sounded by the minister, who says: "There must be the greatest economy. The food department will make an effort to have sufficient supplies for the whole population of Austria as a basis for the joint plan of action with Germany and Hungary to defeat the entente allies' starvation plan."

HAVE FINE CROPS IN GREAT WEST SAYS WIRT WOLFE

Mr. Wirt Wolfe, of this city, now out in that great prosperous north-west country, writes to his friends here through The Herald. The letter is interesting as it describes not only the splendid country but the present condition of the crops.

Mr. Wolfe says in part:
Charthage, S. D., July 28.
Editor Daily Herald,
Washington C. H., Ohio.

"From Kankakee to Chicago the crops were fairly good, consisting of corn and oats; very little wheat. What wheat I saw would make from 12 to 15 bushels per acre. Have had too much rain in that locality, but look on your map and draw a line from Chicago through Clinton, Iowa, on the Mississippi river, on to Tama, thence to Hawarden on the Iowa and South Dakota line. From Hawarden to Aberdeen, South Dakota, a distance of seven hundred miles from Chicago you have one continuous field of grain as far as the eye can reach on both sides of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, consisting of corn, wheat, oats and barley. All through Iowa and Illinois the principal crop is corn and oats—the best I ever saw, particularly in Iowa. I think I saw some of the finest country laying out of doors and yet they tell me that I did not see the best of the state.

Coming on into South Dakota at Hawarden the wheat begins to predominate and it is one continuous field.

To see it it looks as if the northwest could feed the world this year. They in S. Dakota are growing a forty-dollar crop per acre on thirty-dollar land. Have just begun cutting their crop; it will take them three weeks to put it in shock and sixty days to thresh it. They are paying their harvest hands five dollars and board per day; paid their farm hands this summer sixty dollars and board per month.

Everybody seems to have money. Carthage is a town that will compare with Bloomingburg in size; has its own light and water plant, two banks, grade and high school, five elevators, one flour mill and they tell me that they have all they can do to handle the grain and will say that I believe it.

I am going out with a threshing outfit. Will carry a complete crew and camp on the job when we get at it. Will send you a sample of the wheat. I think it is very fine; the farmers tell me it grades No. 1 and tests 63 pounds per bushel. The best we can get in Ohio is No. 2.

I send all my friends my best regards and hope to see them some time in October. I remain,

Very truly,
WIRT A. WOLFE.

FOURTH CAMPAIGN BEGINS SEPT. 28TH

(American Press)
Washington, Aug. 1.—The campaign for the fourth liberty loan will open Saturday, Sept. 28, and continue three weeks, ending Oct. 19, it was announced by Secretary McAdoo. In fixing three weeks as the length of the campaign for the fourth loan, instead of the four weeks as in previous loans, treasury officials plan for a more intensive campaign. A shorter campaign, it was said, will also enable more business men to enlist as workers. The date of the campaign was announced at this time in order to allow campaign organizations to prepare for the sale of bonds and to prevent the planning of other campaigns which might interfere with the dotation of the loan. It is believed $6,000,000,000 will be the objective.

NURSE RAISING FUNDS FOR WAR WORK

MISS KATHLEEN BURKE
Miss Kathleen Burke, Scottish Red Cross nurse, who is lecturing throughout this country in an effort to raise funds for the Scottish Women's Ambulance units in Europe, is probably the most bemuddled woman in America. Miss Burke has seen several years' service on the battlefields of Europe, and has received decorations from all the Allies for her work there. The photo taken recently at San Francisco, shows Miss Burke wearing her medals.

STANDARDIZING OF THE TIRE SIZES IS GREAT SERVICE

"In standardizing tire sizes, war has performed a service in one year's time for dealers, manufacturers and car owners that it would have taken a score of years to accomplish in normal times," said Fred P. Crone, of the Tire and Rubber Shop, distributor of Diamond Tires.

"There is really no necessity for the multiplicity of sizes and types of tires which manufacturers have been making and dealers have been carrying in stock." And yet, I doubt whether we would have weeded out the non-essentials short of 1918 had the old world continued to drift along in the 1912 fashion.

"When an automobile designer specified a tire of different size or type, tire manufacturers simply made it. No one stopped to inquire whether some existing size or type wouldn't suit just as well. As a result, we have had a total of 287 different tires, with consequent high manufacturing costs and large investments by dealers who endeavored to carry a complete stock.

"By the recent action of the pneumatic tire division of the War Service Board," continued Mr. Crone, "rims on new cars will be limited to six sizes and it will be simple for tire makers to follow suit by reducing to nine standard tire sizes. The new dimensions are as follows:

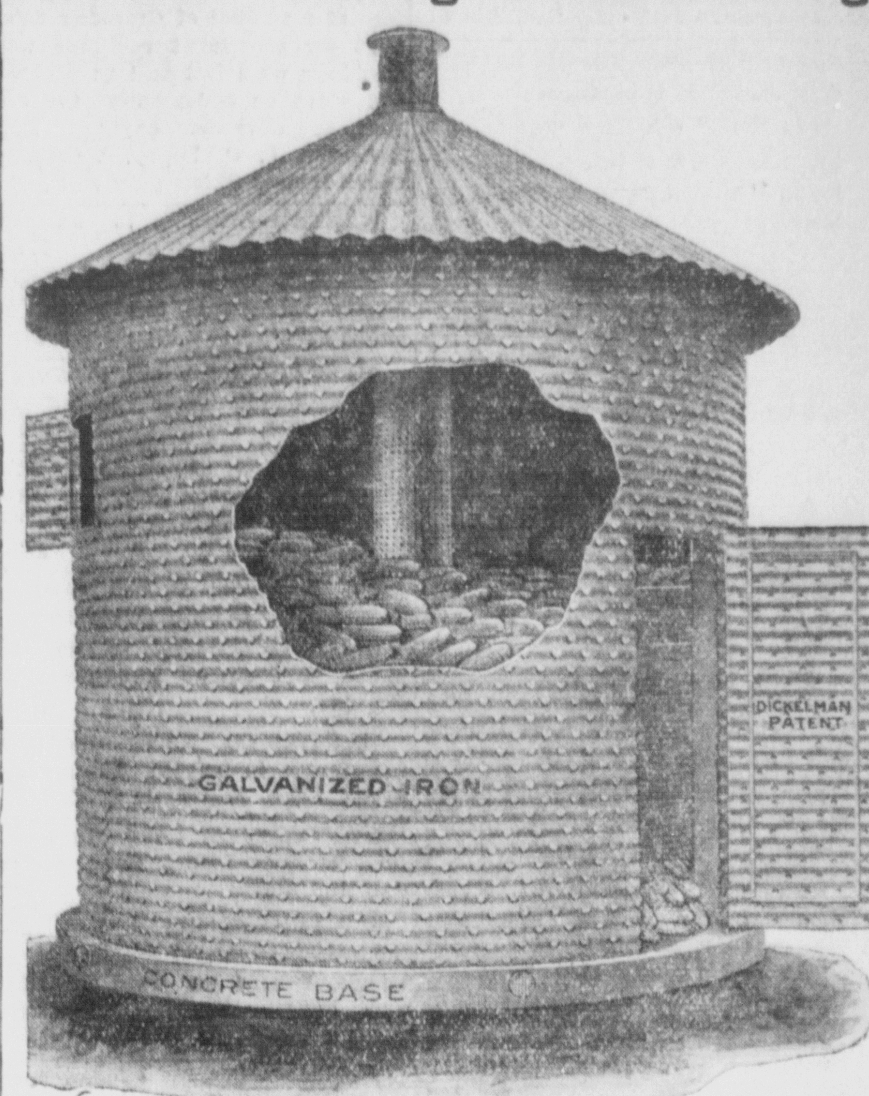

RIMS.
30x3 1-2 clincher.
32x3 1-2 straight side.
33x4 straight side.
34x4 1-2 straight side.
36x6 straight side.
38x7 straight side.

TIRES.
30x 3 1-2 clincher.
31x4 clincher.
32x3 1-2 straight side.
33x4 straight side.
34x4 1-2 straight side.
35x5 straight side.
36x6 straight side.
38x7 straight side.
40x8 straight side.

"Some sizes are abandoned immediately. Others are continued for varying periods, but by November 1, 1920, the entire plan will be in effect. "It's the best thing that ever happened," said Mr. Crone. "Tire dealers will carry smaller stock, have lower overhead expense, and the manufacturers will welcome the new condition. This is directly in line with the purpose of the War Service Board. "The new program will be adopted gradually, giving car owners plenty of opportunity to change their rim equipment where the car will outlive the supply of odd size tires. All new automobiles, will conform to the new standards, gradually eliminating all demand for odd sizes."

RED CROSS FAMILY REMEDIES

Many able Chemists and Doctors were called into service in perfecting this line of Red Cross Remedies. This is an age of Specialists, and while one may have distinguished achievements to his credit in one particular line, another is excelling in something else. That very thing makes it possible for us to have a Red Cross Remedy for each ailment, and enables us to give the consumer more than we promise or charge for. Each formula is compounded with as much care and precision as if our entire success depended upon that one Remedy. That's why NEUROTONE repairs shattered nerves, and Red Cross STONE ROOT and BUCHU puts your kidneys in a normal and healthy condition. Red Cross Remedies are not Patent Medicines. The formula is printed on each carton in plain English, so that you know what they are composed of and what you are taking. More than one hundred Red Cross Remedies and Toilet Preparations are sold and guaranteed only by Strong liniments irritate the skin. Rubbing may cause or increase inflammation. Jones' Liniment is safe to use on the delicate skin of a child. But it is more penetrating than any other liniment. It goes deeper, finds the sore spot sooner, relieves the pain more quickly. Does not blister, smart or burn. Heals cuts, sores, lacerated or punctured wounds. Does not fret the hairy skin of animals. Keep a bottle of Jones' Liniment always at hand—for emergency or general use.
